KEJRIWAL ANTI-WOMEN: MP POST AAP BREAK-UP

'Wore torn pants earlier, built ₹100 cr house as CM; AAP using Punjab as 'personal ATM', indulged in corruption and gundagardi'

NEW DELHI

A day after joining the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) in a major setback to the Aam Aadmi Party, Rajya Sabha member Swati Maliwal on Saturday launched a sharp attack on party chief Arvind Kejriwal, accusing him of being "anti-women" and indulging in "corruption and gundagardi".

Speaking to reporters after formally joining the BJP, Maliwal said she took the decision voluntarily and expressed confidence in the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

"I joined the BJP not under any compulsion, but because I believe in the leadership of PM Modi. I urge all those who want to do constructive politics to join the BJP," she said.

Announcing her exit from the AAP, Maliwal said she had been associated with Kejriwal since 2006 and supported him during various movements, including the RTI and Anna movements. However, she alleged that the party had abandoned its founding principles and that she later faced harassment and pressure within the organisation.

"I have left the AAP and joined the BJP. Since 2006, I have been working with Arvind Kejriwal and supported him during every agitation. However, Arvind Kejriwal had me beaten up by a goon in my own house. I was threatened when I raised my voice against it, and he put immense pressure on me to withdraw the FIR I lodged regarding this incident. I was denied any opportunity to speak in Parliament by the party for two years; this is very shameful. Arvind Kejriwal is anti-women," she said.

> At his residence, on his signal, I was brutally beaten and treated with utmost indecency. To protect his goon, he went to extreme lengths and rewarded him with high positions.
> —Swati Maliwal, AAP MP

Targeting AAP's governance in Punjab, she said, "Now, they have entered Punjab, and the state government is being remotely controlled, turning Punjab into their personal ATM. Sand mining and drug usage are at a peak in Punjab...FIRs are registered against all those leaders who raise their voices against them. Arvind Kejriwal is known for corruption and 'gundagardi."

Contrasting Kejriwal with Modi, Maliwal praised the Prime Minister and Union Home Minister Amit Shah for what she called decisive governance. "On the other hand, we have PM Modi, who is the most popular leader in the world. Be it during Operation Sindoor, when we killed enemies by entering their homes and ending Naxalism, or introducing the women's reservation bill in Parliament, PM Modi and Amit Shah have taken historic decisions for the development of the nation," she said.

In a post on X, Maliwal detailed her political journey and reiterated allegations that she was assaulted by a close aide of Kejriwal at his residence, claiming the leadership protected the accused. "At his residence, on his signal, I was brutally beaten and treated with utmost indecency. To protect his goon, he went to extreme lengths and rewarded him with high positions," she said.

Her remarks come amid a wider churn in the AAP, with Raghav Chadha, Sandeep Pathak and Ashok Mittal announcing their exit from the party along with several other Rajya Sabha MPs, signalling a significant political shift.

'No one can work with Kejriwal'

Maliwal further said the AAP had completely changed and is now known for "lies, corruption and hooliganism", adding that people are now leaving because of Kejriwal. "No good person can work with him for long. He says one thing and does another," she added, warning of more defections.

BLASTS KEJRIWAL

- No good person can work with Kejriwal.
- Indulged in corruption and gundagardi.
- Abandoned AAP founding principles.
- He got me beaten up by a goon.
- Rewarded the goon who thrashed me with high positions.

'We quit party not out of fear but disgust'

New Delhi: AAP and defector MPs on Saturday locked horns over the latter's decision to leave the party with Raghav Chadha alleging that they quit not out of fear but due to "growing sense of disappointment, disengagement and disgust" with the party even as Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann sought an appointment with the President to seek their recall from Rajya Sabha. Chadha said they have joined the BJP not out of fear but because there is "no space left to work in AAP" and "every true patriot who had nurtured the AAP with their blood and sweat with great hope has either already left the party or is in the process of leaving it".

AAP seeks disqualification of 7 MPs after BJP switch

NEW DELHI

With seven Aam Aadmi Party's Rajya Sabha members switching sides to the BJP on Friday, AAP leader Sanjay Singh said that the party will write to the Rajya Sabha chairman seeking their disqualification.

"Anti-defection law clearly states that any type of split or faction cannot happen in the Rajya Sabha and Lok Sabha. It does not carry any legal recognition, even if it's a two-thirds majority," he said.

The AAP leader remarked that neither the anti-defection law nor the Tenth Schedule of the Constitution recognises any kind of split, breakaway faction, or group in the Rajya Sabha or Lok Sabha, two-thirds majority notwithstanding.

"The seven MPs' act of joining the BJP is completely unconstitutional and illegal", he said.

Raghav Chadha, Sandeep Pathak, Ashok Mittal, Harbhajan Singh, Rajinder Gupta, Vikram Sahney and Swati Maliwal exited AAP and joined the BJP on Friday.

Would not have left if...: Hazare

NEW DELHI

Following Raghav Chadha's exit from the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), social activist Anna Hazare said every individual has the right to take political decisions in a democracy and stressed that party leaderships must reflect on why leaders choose to leave.

"Everyone has the right to hold an opinion in a democracy. They (Chadha and others) must have faced some trouble, which is why they left," Hazare told reporters on Friday in Ahilyanagar district of Maharashtra.

The veteran activist went on to place the responsibility on the party leadership. "It is their (AAP leadership's) fault. Had that party followed the right way, they would not have left," he said. "Had the party gone in the right direction, they would not have quit the party," he added.

Hazare and Kejriwal were closely associated during the 2011 anti-corruption movement. Kejriwal worked alongside Hazare during protests and fasts held in Delhi.

HYDERABAD

Seven months after her suspension from the BRS, Telangana Jagruthi president and Former CM K Chandrasekhar Rao's daughter, K Kavitha, on Saturday launched a political outfit, named 'Telangana Rashtra Sena' (TRS).

K Kavitha's departure from the party occurred after she accused her cousins and party leaders T Harish Rao and J Santosh Kumar of "tarnishing" her father and BRS president K Chandrasekhar Rao's image over the Kaleshwaram lift irrigation project built during the BRS regime.

Since her suspension, she has been focusing on public issues under the banner of Telangana Jagruthi, a cultural organisation she heads.

'Iran foreign minister leaves without meeting US envoys'

ISLAMABAD

Iran's foreign minister left Pakistan on Saturday evening before any sign that US envoys had even arrived for indirect talks on the fragile ceasefire.

Abbas Araghchi was seen off at an airport, the officials said. He had met with Pakistani Army Chief Field Marshal Asim Munir and Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif about what he called Iran's red lines for negotiations, and said Tehran would engage with Pakistan's mediation efforts "until a result is achieved."

It was unclear when President Donald Trump's envoys Steve Witkoff and Jared Kushner were due to arrive in Islamabad. The White House declined to comment. An open-ended ceasefire has paused most fighting, but the economic fallout grows with global shipments of oil, liquefied natural gas, fertilizer and other supplies disrupted by the near-closure of the Hormuz.

Iranian officials have openly asked how they can trust the US after talks last year and early this year..

APPEASEMENT OF FOREIGN POWERS

'Madhav 'exposed' Centre's dangerous priorities'

BENGALURU

Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Saturday accused Prime Minister Narendra Modi of being no more than the US President Donald Trump's "puppet", claiming senior BJP leader Ram Madhav's recent remarks in the US had "exposed" the Modi government's "dangerous" priorities.

Taking to social media platform 'X', Siddaramaiah shared a video of the RSS leader where Madhav said that India agreed to stop buying oil from Iran and Russia and also agreed to higher tariffs imposed by the US.

He claimed that Madhav's remarks in the USA have "exposed the Modi government's dangerous priorities".

> He (Ram Madhav) openly admitted that, despite facing opposition criticism, India stopped importing oil from Iran and Russia, absorbed heavy tariffs, and made concessions that hurt India's economy and sovereignty - all to appease foreign powers.
>
> —Siddaramaiah, Chief Minister

Madhav along with RSS general secretary Dattatreya Hosabale are on a visit to the United States and attended an event at the Hudson Institute in Washington.

"He (Ram Madhav) openly admitted that, despite facing opposition criticism, India stopped importing oil from Iran and Russia, absorbed heavy tariffs, and made concessions that hurt India's economy and sovereignty - all to appease foreign powers," the chief minister said.

Siddaramaiah alleged that these are not diplomatic decisions - they are "brazen acts of self-surrender".

"As @RahulGandhi rightly said, this is the model of 'Rashtriya Surrender Sangh', where nationalism is a façade and servility is the reality," he claimed.

According to him, PM Modi's silence in the face of Donald Trump's mockery proved he was nothing more than Trump's "puppet".

"Unfortunately, the nation is paying the price for this compromised leadership," he added.

Madhav, however, later apologised saying what he said was "wrong as India did not agree to stop import of oil from Russia.

"What I said was wrong. India didn't agree to stopping import of oil from Russia anytime." "Also it vigorously protested 50 per cent tariff imposition. I was trying to make a limited counterpoint to the other panellist. But factually incorrect. My apologies," Madhav said in a post on X while sharing his video on April 24.

Row erupts over actor's remark on land allocation for Rajkumar memorial

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

A fresh controversy has erupted in Karnataka after actor and social activist Chetan Ahimsa shared a social media post questioning land allocation for the memorial of legendary actor Dr. Rajkumar.
The remarks, made on the occasion of Rajkumar's birth anniversary, have triggered strong backlash from fans, leading to a police complaint.
The issue began when Chetan Ahimsa took to his official social media accounts, including Facebook and X, to criticize the government's decision to allocate around 2.5 acres of land for the memorial complex of Dr. Rajkumar at the Kanteerava Studio premises in Bengaluru. While acknowledging Rajkumar as a artist, Chetan questioned whether allocating such a large piece of land in the heart of the city for a single actor's memorial was justified.
In his post, Chetan emphasized that land has become a critical and sensitive issue in 21st-century India. He argued that governments must consider long-term public interest and future needs before making such allocations. He further criticized what he described as decisions influenced by vote bank politics and opportunism, stating that public resources should not be used for political gains.
The comments did not go down well with fans of Dr. Rajkumar, who regard the late actor as a cultural icon and a symbol of Kannada pride. On a day meant to celebrate his legacy, many fans expressed anger over what they perceived as disrespectful remarks. The situation escalated quickly, with several supporters filing a formal complaint against Chetan at the Basaveshwar Nagar Police Station.
Protests and strong reactions were reported from various parts of Bengaluru, with fans demanding an apology from the actor. Social media platforms also saw heated debates, with opinions sharply divided between those supporting Chetan's right to question public policy and those condemning his statements as insensitive.
The controversy highlights the delicate balance between freedom of expression and public sentiment, especially when it involves revered cultural figures like Dr. Rajkumar. Authorities are expected to review the complaint and take appropriate action based on the findings.

Govt issues heatwave advisory as mercury rises across state

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

With temperatures steadily rising across the state, the RDPR Dept issued a set of guidelines to help citizens protect themselves from the intense summer heat

The advisory comes in response to forecasts of a severe heatwave in the coming weeks. According to the India Meteorological Department, temperatures are expected to climb significantly this season, increasing the risk of heat-related illnesses. In light of this, the Karnataka government has urged the public to take precautionary measures and follow simple guidelines to stay safe.
One of the key recommendations is to avoid stepping out during peak heat hours, especially between 12 pm and 3 pm, when the sun's intensity is at its highest. People are advised to remain indoors during this period unless absolutely necessary.
Staying hydrated is another crucial aspect emphasized in the advisory. Citizens are encouraged to drink water regularly, even if they do not feel thirsty, and to carry water bottles while traveling. Wearing light, loose-fitting cotton clothing is also recommended to help regulate body temperature. Additionally, the use of umbrellas, hats, and sunglasses can provide protection from direct sunlight.
The department has also highlighted the importance of a healthy diet during the summer. Consuming refreshing drinks such as tender coconut water, fruit juices, buttermilk, and Oral Rehydration Solution can help maintain hydration levels. Fresh fruits, vegetables, and leafy greens should be included in daily meals to support overall health.
At the same time, people are advised to limit the intake of beverages like coffee, tea, alcohol, and sugary soft drinks, as these can contribute to dehydration. Reducing strenuous physical activities during hot weather is also essential to prevent fatigue and heat exhaustion.
To maintain a cool indoor environment, residents are encouraged to keep windows open for proper ventilation and use curtains to block direct sunlight. Special care should be taken for vulnerable groups such as children, pregnant women, and the elderly. The advisory also warns against leaving children or pets inside parked vehicles, as temperatures inside can rise rapidly.
Lastly, individuals are urged to monitor their health closely. Symptoms such as dizziness, nausea, excessive sweating, or muscle cramps should not be ignored. Immediate rest and medical consultation are recommended if such signs appear.
The department concluded its advisory with a strong message urging citizens to remain cautious and prioritize their health during the ongoing heatwave.

The court accepted his apology and disposed of his plea seeking the quashing of an FIR registered against him, bringing a significant development in the widely discussed issue.

Cong blames BJP for blocking women reservation bill

SHIVAMOGGA

Karnataka KPCC spokesperson Bhavya Narasimhamurthy alleged that the BJP was responsible for the failure of the women's reservation bill in Parliament, speaking at a press conference held in Shivamogga.

She claimed that if the BJP had genuine concern for women's empowerment, it would have ensured reservation within the existing 543 Lok Sabha seats. Instead, she alleged, the party introduced additional proposals such as constituency delimitation to delay the bill's implementation.

Bhavya Narasimhamurthy stated that under the current structure, the reservation would have ensured 179 women MPs, but according to her, the BJP feared losing seats of its male parliamentarians. She alleged that this was the reason the bill was not allowed to progress smoothly.

She further said that women's reservation was originally envisioned by former Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi, who introduced reservation for women in local bodies. She added that when the 2023 women's reservation bill was introduced by the NDA government, the Congress supported it without conditions.

However, she questioned why the required notification for implementation has still not been issued. She accused the BJP leadership, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, of misleading the public and delaying enforcement despite having full parliamentary strength.

She also alleged that the bill was introduced without proper consultation with opposition parties and criticised the process followed during its passage.

The Congress leader announced that the party's women's wing will hold press conferences across all districts to create public awareness about the issue, followed by protests against the BJP. Party leaders present at the event included district and state women's wing representatives and senior Congress functionaries.

Scholars call for truthful interpretation of history

TUMAKURU

Eminent scholar Prof. Baraguru Ramachandrappa stressed that history and mythology must not be turned into false narratives shaped by political or social bias. He was speaking at a state-level symposium and poetry meet organised at Kannada Bhavan by the Bandaya Sahitya Sanghatana on the theme "History and Mythology in Kannada Literature: Social Foundations."

He said history and mythology should remain dynamic and be reinterpreted by each generation with present-day understanding. He expressed concern that political voices are increasingly dominating discussions on history instead of trained historians, which could distort facts. He warned that history built on caste, religion, or political interests would become misleading rather than truthful.

Prof. Ramachandrappa explained that while historians depend on records and evidence, literature approaches history through creativity and symbolism. He noted that real history is not limited to kings and rulers but must include the lives and experiences of common people.

He also highlighted the need to understand the difference between traditional texts and literary interpretations, urging scholars to reject regressive elements while appreciating meaningful cultural symbols. He said folklore and grassroots traditions form the foundation of Indian cultural narratives and must be studied carefully.

He called upon the younger generation to adopt a balanced and critical approach while studying history and mythology. They should avoid bias, question false ideas, and connect heritage with modern thinking.

The event featured multiple academic sessions and a poetry gathering where young poets from across the state presented their works. Scholars, students, and literature enthusiasts attended the programme and discussed the evolving role of literature in understanding society and culture.

DIGITAL ADDICTION CONCERN

Judge urges healthy lifestyle for school children

GADAG

Civil Judge and Member Secretary of the District Legal Services Authority, C. S. Shivanagowda, said that excessive use of mobile phones and television is increasing mental health problems among children. He was speaking after inaugurating the district-level summer camp held at Government Higher Primary School No. 10 in Gadag, jointly organised by the district administration, zilla panchayat, women and child development department, and Bala Bhavan committee.

He said children in earlier generations remained active and healthy as they spent more time outdoors and engaged in physical and cultural activities. In contrast, today's children are increasingly dependent on screens, which is affecting their mental well-being and leading to stress and depression. He advised students to balance studies with hobbies, sports, and household participation to build a strong mind and healthy lifestyle.

Women and Child Development Department Deputy Director Radha Mannura said the purpose of the summer camp is to help children understand the importance of such activities and develop interest in arts along with academics. She said various programmes like traditional games, rain dance, mud games, yoga, and planetarium visits have been arranged.

Officials said the 15-day camp is designed for children aged 5 to 16 years to help identify their talents and improve mental and physical skills. They added that the camp provides a learning environment different from classrooms, focusing on creativity and practical exposure.

Speakers also stressed the importance of teaching moral values along with education, warning that lack of values may lead to social issues in the future. The camp includes training in music, yoga, karate, painting, handicrafts and other creative skills conducted by various experts.

Officials urged parents to encourage children to actively participate in such programmes and reduce screen time to ensure overall personality development and better mental health.

Delhi min Verma accuses Kejriwal of luxury living

'Kejriwal presents himself as a leader of simplicity while 'enjoying' privileges that contradict his public image'

NEW DELHI

Senior Bharatiya Janata Party leader and Delhi Minister Parvesh Verma on Saturday launched a strong criticism against former Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, alleging that the Aam Aadmi Party chief has misled the public regarding his lifestyle and housing decisions.

The remarks have intensified the ongoing political tussle in the national capital ahead of key political developments.

Parvesh Verma accused Arvind Kejriwal of presenting himself as a leader of simplicity while allegedly enjoying privileges that contradict his public image. He claimed that Kejriwal had built his political identity on promises of transparency, honesty, and a modest lifestyle, but his actions in office did not align with those claims.

Verma specifically questioned Kejriwal's housing choices, suggesting that the former chief minister had opted for accommodations that were far from modest.

According to Verma, this raises concerns about credibility and trust, especially when leaders project themselves as champions of the common people. He further alleged that such contradictions amount to misleading the public, which could erode confidence in governance.

The BJP leader emphasized that political leaders must be accountable for both their words and actions.

He stated that voters expect consistency and integrity, particularly from those who have risen to power by promising change and ethical governance. Verma added that any deviation from these principles should be scrutinized and brought to public attention.

In response to such allegations in the past, Arvind Kejriwal and his party have maintained that all decisions regarding official residences and facilities were made within the framework of government rules. They have also argued that political opponents often exaggerate issues to gain mileage.

The latest remarks are likely to further escalate tensions between the BJP and the Aam Aadmi Party, both of which have been engaged in a war of words over governance, transparency, and public accountability.

Political observers believe that such exchanges could shape public discourse in Delhi in the coming months, as both sides attempt to reinforce their narratives and appeal to voters.

As the debate continues, the controversy highlights broader questions about political ethics, public perception, and the standards to which elected representatives are held.

CAIT hails RBI decision to cancel Paytm Payments Bank licence

NEW DELHI

The Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT) on Saturday hailed the decisive action taken by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in cancelling the licence of Paytm Payments Bank Limited (PPBL), seeking probe into the matter.

This firm regulatory intervention is in the larger public interest and will help safeguard the hard-earned savings of millions of Indians who trusted the institution with their money, said the industry body in a statement.

CAIT Secretary and BJP MP Praveen Khandelwal said that the RBI's decision reflects the seriousness of repeated regulatory non-compliance, governance failures, and continued disregard for supervisory directions.

It may be recalled that in 2024, the RBI had already imposed major restrictions on the banking operations of Paytm Payments Bank. However, despite earlier warnings and corrective opportunities, the institution appears to have failed to adequately address critical concerns, leading to the present action. Khandelwal appreciated RBI's assurance to depositors that their funds remain safe and will be returned as per due process. This assurance is important, especially for lakhs of small traders, shopkeepers, street vendors, hawkers, self-employed persons and women entrepreneurs who have been using Paytm extensively for day-to-day payments and digital transactions, he said. CAIT had earlier cautioned that any regulatory action on Paytm Payments Bank could create financial inconvenience and transaction disruptions for a large number of micro and small users dependent on the platform.

Therefore, it has urged the authorities to ensure a smooth transition mechanism so that such users do not suffer unnecessary hardship, said the industry body. CAIT National President, BC Bhartia, demanded a comprehensive investigation into the handling, storage, and location of the vast financial and consumer data collected through Paytm's platforms over the years.

Suspect in 31-year-old kidnap, murder case finally arrested

NEW DELHI

The accused, who was allegedly absconding for over three decades, was apprehended from Loni in Uttar Pradesh following sustained surveillance and verification efforts by the police.

According to officials, Salim Wastik, also known as Salim Ahmed or Salim Khan, was wanted in a 1995 case involving the abduction and murder of a 13-year-old boy. The arrest was carried out by a team of the Anti-Robbery and Serious Crime unit of the Crime Branch under the supervision of senior officers, marking a significant breakthrough in a long-pending case. Police records indicate that the incident dates back to January 20, 1995, when Sandeep Bansal, a student and son of a local businessman in North East Delhi, left his home to attend school but did not return. His family initially conducted a search but grew concerned when he failed to come back. The following day, they reportedly received a phone call informing them that the boy had been kidnapped.

Soon after, another call was allegedly made demanding a ransom of Rs 30,000 for the child's safe release. The caller instructed the victim's father to deliver the money at a bus stand near the Loni flyover and place it inside a specific bus heading towards Baghpat. The family was also warned not to inform the police, with threats issued regarding the safety of the child.

Despite the threats, a case was registered at the Gokulpuri police station under relevant provisions of the Indian Penal Code related to kidnapping. During the investigation, suspicion fell on Salim Khan, who was working as a martial arts instructor at Ramjas School in Daryaganj, where the victim studied.

Cong leaders claim key role in govt formation in West Bengal

KOLKATA

Their remarks come as the party contests independently in the state after a gap of two decades.

The Congress has entered the West Bengal Assembly elections without any alliance, marking a significant shift in its electoral strategy after 20 years. With this approach, the party leadership has positioned itself against both the ruling All India Trinamool Congress and the opposition Bharatiya Janata Party, aiming to establish itself as a viable third force in the state's political landscape.

Pramod Tiwari and Akhilesh Prasad Singh emphasized that although the electoral battle is often seen as a contest between two dominant parties, the Congress is steadily gaining ground. They stated that the party's growing presence could prove crucial in determining the formation of the next government. According to them, the Congress is no longer on the sidelines but is re-emerging as an influential player in the state. Tiwari also highlighted West Bengal's long-standing history of cultural and political movements, suggesting that the state has always been receptive to ideological shifts. He took aim at Union Home Minister Amit Shah, questioning the central government's handling of security, particularly in areas directly under its jurisdiction. At the same time, he criticized the Trinamool Congress, alleging that it has fostered corruption, syndicate practices, and political violence. Echoing similar sentiments, Akhilesh Prasad Singh claimed that no government could be formed in West Bengal without the Congress playing a pivotal role. He further alleged that the state has witnessed a decline in key sectors such as education, healthcare, and industry, calling for a change in governance.

The statements come ahead of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's scheduled visit to the state for election campaigning. Gandhi is set to address multiple meetings, including gatherings in Serampore, Kolkata, and the Metiaburuz area.

TERROR NETWORK REVIVAL

Pak looks to replace flagged OGWs in J&K

NEW DELHI

In a bid to rebuild and revive its terror network in Jammu and Kashmir, Pakistan has been trying to set up a group of completely new overground workers (OGWs).

The OGW network, crucial for terror operations in the Valley has largely fallen, following an intense crackdown by the Indian security agencies. An official said that the new OGW network is being set up because most of them, part of the old or existing guard, have police records against them. The ones with police records are easy to track and this information has been used several times by the Jammu and Kashmir Police to nab these OGWs, the official added.

While attempts are being made to send in foreign fighters to Jammu and Kashmir, Pakistan realises that they cannot operate without a strong OGW network. This is the network that facilitates the movement of terrorists, their shelter, food and logistics. The presence of a strong OGW network is key to a successful terrorist strike by terrorists. Hence, Pakistan is shunning many within the existing guard and looking for newer ones, the official said.

Some of the men who are on the target list include shopkeepers, tour guides and unemployed youth. Another official said that Pakistan would not entirely dismantle its OGW network. It would have a couple of them from the old guard to be part of the network. These persons have experience and would be needed to train the newer lot, the official added.

The ISI is also attempting to get the youth of Jammu and Kashmir onboard. It is attempting to restart its earlier programme through which the ISI would sponsor the education of the youth.

The education would be imparted in top universities and colleges abroad. They would pick countries such as the US, UK and Australia for the education of the youth. Like in the past, they would avoid taking the students to Pakistan and imparting education. This would become too obvious and Pakistan would want to avoid that.

Khalsa's new strategy: Radicalise rural Punjab, hit urban targets

New Delhi

Intelligence agencies have issued a fresh alert regarding plans by the banned outfit Babbar Khalsa International to revive the Khalistan movement in Punjab, with a new strategy focused on rural radicalisation and low-intensity attacks in urban centres, officials familiar with the development have said. Security and intelligence agencies have foiled several such attempts in recent years, prompting the radical group to rethink its approach. While Babbar Khalsa International (BKI) had earlier focused on recruiting and radicalising youth in urban areas, officials say those efforts largely failed.

Security forces arrest three ULFA-I members in Nagaland

Kohima

Security forces have apprehended three cadres of the banned United Liberation Front of Asom (Independent) [ULFA-I] during a counter-insurgency operation in Nagaland's Mon district, officials said on Saturday. According to officials, the operation was launched based on specific intelligence inputs regarding the movement of ULFA-I cadres in the region. The cadres were reportedly active in the Phomching area and were attempting to move towards Shangnyu village when security forces initiated the operation.

Troops of the Assam Rifles carried out a targeted raid at Shangnyu village under the Phomching sub-division.

Radhakrishnan, on Saturday urged youth to become job creators and nation-builders while addressing the 35th convocation ceremony of the University of Rajasthan in Jaipur. Gracing the programme as the chief guest, the Vice-President described Rajasthan as a land of rich heritage, bravery and cultural depth, noting that Jaipur stands as a symbol of both tradition and progress. He said the university continues to shape generations of thinkers, leaders and change-makers committed to knowledge, integrity and service. Congratulating graduating students, he said a convocation marks both an end and a beginning, urging them to use education as a tool for societal progress.

He emphasised that the true value of education lies in its application for innovation, ethical conduct and the betterment of society.

Power crisis row deepens in Keralam as Oppn-govt trade charges

Oppn leader argued that a long-term deal secured during Chandy's tenure to procure 465 MW of power at a cost of Rs 4.29 per unit was arbitrarily cancelled

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Leader of the Opposition VD Satheesan on Saturday alleged that the emerging power crisis in Kerala and reports of unannounced load shedding were the result of flawed decisions by the state government.

He accused the ruling front of scrapping long-term electricity purchase agreements and claimed that corruption may have influenced the move. Satheesan strongly criticized the government, stating that the current situation has caused significant inconvenience to people, especially amid intense summer heat. He demanded the immediate withdrawal of any power restrictions and warned that the United Democratic Front would launch strong protests if the outages continue. According to him, frequent disruptions in electricity supply have become a serious concern for residents across the state.

The Opposition leader also questioned the ruling Left Democratic Front's claim of ensuring uninterrupted power supply over the past decade under Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan. He argued that a long-term agreement secured during the tenure of former Chief Minister Oommen Chandy, which allowed procurement of 465 MW of power at an average cost of Rs 4.29 per unit, was arbitrarily cancelled.

Satheesan alleged that due to this decision, the state is now forced to purchase electricity at significantly higher rates ranging between Rs 6 and Rs 12 per unit. He claimed that this has resulted in daily financial losses of Rs 15–20 crore for the Kerala State Electricity Board. He further alleged that private companies benefited from the decision and demanded a detailed probe into the matter.Responding to the allegations, Electricity Minister K. Krishnankutty denied that there is any unannounced load shedding in the state. He clarified that only natural regulation is being carried out when the power grid faces overload.

According to the minister, electricity consumption has crossed 6,195 MW, forcing the state to procure power at higher costs to meet demand. Krishnankutty emphasized that the government is making efforts to avoid a tariff hike and urged consumers to use electricity responsibly. He also rejected criticism of the LDF's earlier claims, stating that the current strain on power supply is part of a broader national trend driven by rising temperatures and increased demand.In a pointed response to the Opposition, the minister attributed the surge in consumption to extreme weather conditions, suggesting that nature itself is responsible for the current stress on the system.

He expressed confidence that the situation would stabilize within a couple of days.

Meanwhile, complaints of frequent short-duration outages, particularly during nighttime, are being reported from various parts of Kerala.

Spiritual scholar Prasad dies at 87 in Keralam

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Muni Narayana Prasad passed away at the age of 87, marking the end of a life that seamlessly blended knowledge with humility. Based at the Gurukulam in the Sreenivasapuram area of Varkala in Kerala, he transformed the ashram into both a center of meditation and a hub of intellectual engagement. Through his work, he presented the profound teachings of the Upanishads and Sree Narayana Guru in a simple and accessible manner, making them relevant to modern society.

A spiritual successor to Nataraja Guru and Guru Nitya Chaitanya Yati, Prasad led the Gurukulam's global network while maintaining the simplicity and discipline of a monk. Despite receiving the prestigious Padma Shri, he remained deeply committed to the daily life and routines of the institution, demonstrating that spirituality requires consistent effort and dedication.

Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan on Saturday expressed deep sorrow over the demise of Muni Narayana Prasad, the revered head of Narayana Gurukulam and a distinguished interpreter of Sree Narayana Guru's philosophy.

Born in 1938 near Thiruvananthapuram, Prasad initially trained and worked as an engineer. However, driven by a deeper spiritual quest, he chose to renounce his professional career. Cong to move SC against HC order denying bail to Khera

NEW DELHI

The Indian National Congress on Saturday said it will challenge the Gauhati High Court order rejecting anticipatory bail to party leader Pawan Khera before the Supreme Court of India. The party expressed strong support for Khera, calling the case an example of political targeting. Congress General Secretary (Communications) Jairam Ramesh stated that the party stands firmly with Pawan Khera and is confident that judicial relief will be granted. In a post on the social media platform X, Ramesh said that the Congress believes justice will prevail over what he described as politics driven by threat, intimidation, and harassment.The development comes a day after the Gauhati High Court rejected Khera's plea for anticipatory bail in connection with a case registered in Assam. The FIR was lodged following alleged remarks made by Khera against Riniki Bhuyan Sharma, the wife of Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma.A single-judge bench of Justice Parthivjyoti Saikia ruled that Khera did not deserve the relief of anticipatory bail. The court observed that the matter could not be treated as mere defamation and noted that there were grounds for a prima facie case under provisions of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023. The case originates from statements made by Khera during a press conference in Guwahati earlier this month, where he alleged that Riniki Bhuyan Sharma possessed multiple foreign passports and had financial dealings abroad.

5 self-styled godmen held for duping Sundargarh villagers

SUNDARGARH

Sundargarh Sadar police have arrested five self-styled godmen for allegedly cheating and looting innocent villagers in the Sadar police station area.

All five arrested persons are from the Aurangabad region of Bihar. Police have seized gold ornaments worth several lakhs of rupees along with cash amounting to Rs 36,000 from their possession.

The arrested identified as Gugu Panda Dular Panda, Bisal Panda, Dhanu Panda and Doctor Panda. All five have been forwarded to court.

According to police, the gang had been active in the Sadar area for quite some time. They would approach simple villagers, create fear by warning them of impending misfortune or danger to their family, and then demand gold ornaments and cash as offerings to ward off evil.

The latest incident that led to their arrest occurred yesterday when three of the fake babas visited the house of Gobardhan Oram in Lankahuda village under Sadar police station. Gobardhan's wife initially gave them rice and Rs 20. The fake babas then threatened Gobardhan's wife, claiming that a calamity would befall them. When the family members said they could not give gold, the babas allegedly threatened to harm their child. Two more members of the gang later joined them and intensified the threats.

Following the complaint lodged by Gobardhan at Sadar police station, the Superintendent of Police directed the formation of three separate teams. The teams conducted raids at different locations and successfully arrested the five accused.

JUDGE NEVER RETIRES

Rtd judges 'vital reservoirs' for judiciary: CJI

JAIPUR

Chief Justice of India Surya Kant on Saturday underscored the enduring value of retired judges, comparing them to traditional stepwells that sustain communities during difficult times.Speaking at a seminar in Jaipur, he highlighted the need to better utilise their experience to strengthen the judicial system. Addressing a one-day seminar titled The Bench Beyond Retirement, the Chief Justice drew a powerful analogy from the arid regions of Rajasthan, where stepwells, locally known as bawris, act as crucial water reserves during droughts. Referring to his roots in Churu, he explained how these structures collect rainwater over time and provide sustenance when resources run scarce. He said retired judges play a similar role during periods of institutional stress, offering guidance, wisdom, and stability. CJI Surya Kant stressed that the legal system often underestimates the value of former judges after retirement. He remarked that while farewell ceremonies acknowledge their contributions, the system tends to move on without effectively leveraging their expertise. A judge never truly retires. Once a judge, always a judge, he said, emphasizing that their knowledge cannot be replaced by committees or training programmes.He highlighted that judges carry not only a deep understanding of law but also insights into human experiences. Over years of service, they witness diverse societal challenges, from the struggles of rural farmers to the concerns of entrepreneurs and families in distress.

NEW DELHI

The Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT) on Saturday hailed the decisive action taken by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in cancelling the licence of Paytm Payments Bank Limited (PPBL), seeking probe into the matter.This firm regulatory intervention is in the larger public interest and will help safeguard the hard-earned savings of millions of Indians who trusted the institution with their money, said the industry body in a statement.CAIT Secretary and BJP MP Praveen Khandelwal said that the RBI's decision reflects the seriousness of repeated regulatory non-compliance, governance failures, and continued disregard for supervisory directions.

It may be recalled that in 2024, the RBI had already imposed major restrictions on the banking operations of Paytm Payments Bank. However, despite earlier warnings and corrective opportunities, the institution appears to have failed to adequately address critical concerns, leading to the present action.

CANADA-S. KOREA FORGE STRONGER MILITARY TIES

Canada-South Korea strengthen military ties through high-tech drills and defense modernization, honoring their historic Korean War bond.

SEOUL

The historic bond between Canada and South Korea, first cemented on the battlefields of the 1950s, is entering a powerful new era of cooperation. During a recent visit to Seoul, Lieutenant General Michael Wright, Commander of the Canadian Army, emphasized that the partnership is growing "stronger" as both nations face an increasingly fractured world.

The General's visit coincided with the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gapyeong, a pivotal Korean War conflict where Canadian troops fought heroically. To honor this history, members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry recently arrived in South Korea to participate in their first-ever high-tech military drills alongside local forces. This move signals a shift from purely commemorative ties to active, modern defense collaboration.

A major focus of this strengthening relationship is Canada's massive army modernization project, the largest in over 25 years. General Wright confirmed that Canada is looking closely at South Korea's advanced defense industry to accelerate its equipment upgrades. Key technologies under discussion include the K9 howitzers and the Redback Infantry Fighting Vehicle. These potential deals follow a strategic agreement made last year between world leaders to deepen intelligence sharing and military security.

For Canada, which sent over 26,000 soldiers to support South Korea decades ago, the current alliance is a natural progression. By combining shared history with cutting-edge technology, both nations aim to secure a more stable future. General Wright noted that these deepening ties serve as a clear indicator of the collaborative path both countries will walk together.

A US House panel cleared twenty export control measures to restrict China's access to advanced semiconductor and AI technologies.

US panel moves to block China chips

WASHINGTON. D.C

A powerful US House panel has taken a significant step toward restricting China's technological growth by clearing 20 new export control measures.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee advanced these proposals this week, specifically targeting China's access to advanced semiconductor technology and high-end manufacturing equipment. This move signals a major escalation in the ongoing global battle for tech supremacy.

One of the central pieces of legislation is the "Match Act." Introduced by Representative Michael Baumgartner, the bill aims to close "back doors" by forcing US allies to align their export rules with Washington's strict standards. The goal is to prevent the Chinese Communist Party from acquiring deep ultraviolet lithography machines and other essential tools used to build modern chips. Baumgartner warned that the US cannot allow China to dominate the technologies that drive both the economy and national defense.

In addition to equipment curbs, the panel introduced the "Stop Stealing Our Chips Act." This bill offers incentives for whistleblowers to report any violations of export controls. Another measure, the "Deterring American AI Model Theft Act," threatens sanctions against Chinese firms that misuse artificial intelligence models developed in the United States.

While some broader bans were scaled back during the debate, the core restrictions remain firm. The US semiconductor industry has largely backed these measures, citing unfair competition from state-backed Chinese firms. These bills now move to the full House of Representatives, representing a determined effort by lawmakers to safeguard national security by keeping critical technology out of rival hands.

AI deepfakes devastate lives of Bangladeshi women

DHAKA

A silent and digital crisis is sweeping through Bangladesh, as the misuse of Artificial Intelligence (AI) triggers social ruin for women.

Emerging reports highlight a terrifying rise in "deepfakes," where perpetrators superimpose women's faces onto pornographic content. This high-tech abuse is destroying reputations and forcing victims out of public life, with some cases tragically ending in suicide.

Victims range from students and professionals to high-profile politicians and actresses. In one heartbreaking instance, a woman took her own life after a fabricated video was sent to her family, weaponizing the country's strict social focus on "family honor." Another university student was forced to resign from her organizations and consider quitting her studies after doctored images circulated through her community. Even prominent figures, such as former government advisor Syeda Rizwana Hasan, have been targeted by malicious accounts designed to humiliate female leaders.

Research indicates that a staggering 89 percent of women social media users in Bangladesh have experienced some form of online violence.

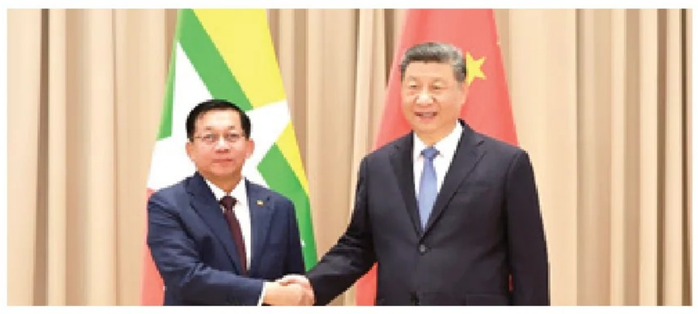
Myanmar's new govt deepens co-op with China

NAYPYIDAW

Myanmar's military-led government has signaled a significant shift in its foreign policy by appointing Tin Maung Swe as the new Foreign Minister.

A former Brigadier General and ex-Ambassador to Beijing, his appointment is seen by experts as a clear move to strengthen the country's alignment with China. This development comes as the nation faces increasing isolation from Western powers following the 2021 coup.

Strategic analyst Bertil Lintner suggests that history is repeating itself in a "tragic" cycle. After the 1988 massacres, Myanmar's military relied heavily on China before briefly opening to the West a decade ago. However, following recent sanctions and boycotts from the United States and Europe, the junta has once again turned to Beijing for political and economic survival. This time, the military appears more determined to maintain this partnership to avoid past vulnerabilities.



The relationship is equally vital for Beijing. Myanmar serves as a crucial gateway to the Indian Ocean, allowing China to bypass the crowded Malacca Strait and the contested South China Sea. This "land bridge" is essential for China to import oil, gas, and minerals while exporting its goods directly to global markets.

As the military-dominated government seeks to solidify its power through these foreign contacts, the report warns that the local population has little say in the matter. Backed by Chinese influence and a more sophisticated approach to diplomacy, the current regime seems more firmly entrenched than ever, leaving the people of Myanmar to bear the cost of this geopolitical shift.

Pak reboots strategy to revive Kashmir terror

INDIA

Pakistan is overhauling its Kashmir networks by recruiting clean-record workers and targeting students through overseas education funding to discreetly radicalize and revive separatist logistics.

Pakistan is moving to overhaul its underground networks in Jammu and Kashmir after a sustained crackdown by Indian security forces crippled its operations.

Intelligence reports reveal that the Pakistani establishment is now seeking to recruit a fresh batch of "overground workers" (OGWs) who have no prior police records. These individuals, including shopkeepers and unemployed youth, are harder for local authorities to track compared to the "flagged" veterans currently on the radar.

While the old guard is not being entirely discarded, they are expected to serve as mentors for the new recruits. These workers are essential to terror operations, providing the logistics, food, and shelter required for foreign fighters to survive in the Valley. Officials state that Pakistan realizes foreign militants cannot operate effectively without this localized support system.

Simultaneously, the ISI is launching a deceptive "student outreach" program to win over the youth. Rather than bringing students to Pakistan, which raises immediate red flags, the plan involves discreetly funding education at prestigious universities in the UK, US, and Australia. Once these students are abroad, agents aim to radicalize them away from the eyes of Indian agencies.

The goal is for these educated individuals to return to Kashmir to push separatist narratives and recruit others. This desperate reset comes as Pakistan faces internal pressure from hardliners to reignite the Kashmir issue. Despite these efforts, Indian authorities remain vigilant, continuing to promote mainstream opportunities for the youth while maintaining a high level of security at the borders.

India-NZ set for historic trade deal

INDIA

India and New Zealand are on the verge of a major economic breakthrough as they prepare to sign a landmark Free Trade Agreement (FTA).

Union Minister of Commerce and Industry, Piyush Goyal, announced that the deal will be officially signed soon, marking what he calls a "new chapter" in the relationship between the two nations.

The announcement came during a visit from New Zealand's Trade Minister, Todd McClay. Goyal welcomed his counterpart, stating that this partnership is built on shared values and a common vision for growth. The agreement was reached in record time, negotiations only began in March 2025 and were wrapped up by December of the same year. This makes it one of the fastest trade deals India has ever concluded.

For India, the benefits are significant. The FTA will provide duty-free access for Indian exports, making it cheaper to sell goods in New Zealand. At the same time, the deal includes protections for India's more sensitive industries to ensure local businesses aren't harmed. Beyond just goods, the agreement opens doors for Indian professionals. It creates new opportunities for skilled workers in fields like IT, healthcare, and education to work in New Zealand.

Government officials believe this pact will serve as a vital gateway for India to reach other markets in the Pacific Islands. By removing trade barriers and encouraging cooperation in services like engineering and construction, both countries hope to drive long-term prosperity and strengthen their economic resilience on the global stage.

INDO-PACIFIC ON FOCUS

India-US strengthen Indo-Pacific ties

WASHINGTON. D.C.

India and the United States have once again signaled a powerful strategic alignment during high-level military talks held in Washington.

General Anil Chauhan, India's Chief of Defence Staff, met with General Kevin B Schneider, a top official from the US Indo-Pacific Command.

The two leaders focused on a shared vision for regional security, reaffirming their commitment to maintaining peace and stability across the Indo-Pacific region.

A key outcome of the meeting was the clear intent to expand the complexity and frequency of joint military engagements. Both nations plan to move beyond traditional drills toward more "operationalized" missions involving all branches of their armed forces.

The leaders recognized that in the modern era, technology is the ultimate decider of power. Consequently, they pledged to enhance their synergy through advanced technological collaboration and strategic foresight to stay ahead of emerging global threats.

This meeting follows General Chauhan's recent visit to the United Kingdom, where he held similar discussions with British military chiefs. Whether in London or Washington, the message remains consistent, India is positioning itself as a central pillar in the global security order.

By addressing everything from cyber threats to trade imbalances, India is working closely with its Western allies to ensure a resilient and secure international environment.

As global tensions fluctuate, this deepening bond between New Delhi and Washington serves as a stabilizing force. Both sides emphasized that their partnership is not just about mutual defense, but about shaping a prosperous and peaceful future for the entire world.

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL VISITS PYONGYANG TO HONOR SOLDIERS

PYONGYANG

Vyacheslav Volodin, the speaker of Russia's State Duma, arrived in North Korea for a high-profile working visit. His trip marks a significant moment in the deepening alliance between the two nations.

Volodin traveled to Pyongyang on the direct instructions of President Vladimir Putin to attend the opening of a new memorial museum dedicated to North Korean soldiers who died fighting for Russia.

The new "Memorial Museum of Combat Feats" honors North Korean troops who reportedly helped Russia recapture the Kursk region during the ongoing conflict with Ukraine. Official reports suggest that North Korea deployed approximately 15,000 combat troops to assist Russian forces following a strategic partnership treaty signed by Kim Jong-un and Putin in June 2024. This museum serves as a permanent symbol of the military blood bond formed on the modern battlefield.

Upon his arrival, Volodin was greeted by Jo Yong-won, the chairman of North Korea's Supreme People's Assembly. Beyond the Sunday museum ceremony, Volodin is scheduled to hold meetings with North Korean parliamentary leaders to further strengthen bilateral ties.

This visit follows recent discussions between the two countries' interior and public security ministers regarding law enforcement cooperation. From military support to police exchanges, the relationship between Moscow and Pyongyang has reached a level of intensity not seen in decades.

As Volodin pays tribute to the fallen, the visit underscores a mutual commitment to a unified front against Western pressure, signaling that their strategic partnership is now being etched into history.

Domestic institutions alone raised their stake by 58 basis points to 19.3%, while direct household participation also rose by 20 basis points.This surge in domestic inflows has helped offset a decline in foreign participation. Industrials remained their most underweight sector.

Indian IT hiring turns negative as headcount falls

New Delhi

India's top IT services companies saw a rare contraction in workforce during FY26, with combined headcount falling by over 7,000 employees across major firms like Tata Consultancy Services, Infosys, HCLTech, Wipro and Tech Mahindra. The decline marks a sharp reversal from FY25, when the sector had added over 12,000 jobs. Industry-wide hiring also slowed, with NASSCOM reporting near-flat net job additions of about 2,000 year-on-year. Companies cited cautious demand outlooks and rapid AI-driven transformation

She stressed the need for a seamless, secure, and portable KYC framework that works across institutions without duplication.The minister called for better coordination between SEBI and bodies like the Financial Stability and Development Council to build a unified system. INDIA REAL ESTATE DEMAND STEADY DESPITE SLOWER LAUNCHES

India's real estate sector maintained stable demand in the first quarter of 2026 despite a slowdown in new project launches, according to a report by Equirus. The findings highlight the sector's resilience even as developers adopted a cautious approach toward fresh supply.

The report noted that while fewer new projects were introduced during the quarter, buyer interest remained strong across key markets.

This indicates that underlying demand fundamentals continue to be robust, supported by steady economic conditions and sustained end-user interest.

A major factor behind the launch slowdown is the more measured strategy adopted by developers. Instead of aggressively expanding supply, many are focusing on clearing existing inventory and ensuring better project execution. This cautious stance reflects a shift toward disciplined growth rather than rapid expansion.

At the same time, demand is being driven by both residential and commercial segments. Housing demand remains supported by rising incomes, urbanisation, and relatively stable interest rates. Commercial real estate, particularly office and retail assets, is also seeing consistent traction due to stable cash flows and investor confidence.

The report also aligns with broader industry trends, where activity levels remain healthy even if the value of transactions or new launches fluctuates. Recent data shows that deal volumes in the sector have stayed steady, with a tilt toward mid-sized transactions rather than large-ticket investments. Overall, the outlook for India's real estate sector remains positive.

While supply growth may be calibrated in the near term, sustained demand and strong fundamentals are expected to support continued stability in the market.

DOMESTIC DEMAND

India CV volumes to hit 12.4 lakh by FY27

NEW DELHI

India's commercial vehicle (CV) industry is projected to reach a record 12.4 lakh units in FY27, surpassing its previous peak, according to a report by Crisil.

The growth comes after a strong recovery phase, with CV volumes rebounding sharply in FY26. However, the pace of expansion is expected to moderate to around 5–6% in FY27 due to a higher base and normalising demand conditions.

Domestic demand is expected to remain the key driver, supported by ongoing infrastructure development, freight movement, replacement demand, and improved vehicle affordability following earlier tax rationalisation measures. The domestic market accounts for the majority of total CV sales in India.

Within the segment, light commercial vehicles (LCVs) are projected to grow steadily, driven by e-commerce, logistics, and last-mile delivery needs.

Medium and heavy commercial vehicles (M&HCVs) are expected to see stable growth supported by construction, mining, and freight activity. Bus sales are also likely to expand moderately due to replacement demand and government-led fleet upgrades.

Kings Rewrite History: Record Chase Stuns Delhi

Punjab Kings stunned Delhi Capitals, chasing a record 265 with fearless batting, led by Prabhsimran Singh and Shreyas Iyer

NEW DELHI

In a night of pure cricketing carnage at the Arun Jaitley Stadium, Punjab Kings (PBKS) pulled off the impossible. They chased down a record-shattering target of 265 to defeat Delhi Capitals (DC) by six wickets, proving that in the modern T20 era, no total is truly safe.

The chase began with an absolute hurricane. Openers Prabhsimran Singh and Priyansh Arya dismantled the Delhi bowling attack, racing to 116 runs within the first six overs. Prabhsimran was the chief aggressor, punishing the bowlers for 76 runs off a mere 26 deliveries. Arya played his part perfectly with a brisk 43, ensuring the required run rate remained manageable from the start.

Although spin wizard Kuldeep Yadav struck twice to apply the brakes, PBKS captain Shreyas Iyer remained unfazed. Iyer played a masterfully paced innings, finishing unbeaten on 71 from 36 balls to guide his team home with seven balls to spare.

Earlier, the crowd witnessed a masterclass from DC's KL Rahul. He smashed an unbeaten 152—the highest score ever by an Indian in the IPL—propelling Delhi to a massive 264/2. However, his historic feat was overshadowed by Punjab's relentless aggression.

The high-octane clash took a somber turn when Delhi's Lungi Ngidi was stretchered off following a head injury while fielding. Despite the concern, the game concluded with PBKS celebrating a historic milestone. This victory cements Punjab's reputation as the most fearless batting unit in the 2026 season.

IPL 2026

KL RAHUL shatters records with historic century

NEW DELHI

The Arun Jaitley Stadium witnessed a masterclass in power hitting as KL Rahul etched his name into the history books. The Delhi Capitals opener played a marathon innings, scoring an unbeaten 152 against the Punjab Kings. This remarkable feat makes him only the third player in IPL history to cross the 150-run mark, joining legends Chris Gayle and Brendon McCullum in an elite club. Rahul's explosive knock came off just 67 balls, featuring 16 boundaries and nine towering sixes. By reaching his century in 47 deliveries, he also claimed the record for the fastest hundred ever scored by a Delhi Capitals player. Beyond team records, Rahul now holds the highest individual score by an Indian in the IPL, surpassing Abhishek Sharma's previous best of 141.

The crowd was treated to a fireworks display as Rahul combined with Nitish Rana for a massive 220-run partnership. While the Punjab bowlers struggled to find answers, Rahul moved past MS Dhoni to become the fifth-highest run-getter in the tournament's history. He also reclaimed the Orange Cap, cementing his dominance in the 2026 season.

This innings was particularly special as Rahul became the first player to score multiple centuries for three different IPL franchises. His performance propelled Delhi to a daunting total of 264 runs. For the home fans, it wasn't just a win in the making; it was a historic moment where "KLass" met raw power to redefine what is possible in T20 cricket.

Virat Kohli and Devdutt Padikkal powered Royal Challengers Bengaluru to a stunning victory, chasing 206 against Gujarat Titans

Kohli and Padikkal lead RCB to victory

BENGALURU

The M. Chinnaswamy Stadium erupted in joy as Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) pulled off a stunning five-wicket win against the Gujarat Titans. In a high-stakes chase of 206 runs, the home team proved their mettle, finishing the game with seven balls to spare. This victory propels RCB to the second spot in the IPL 2026 points table, marking their fifth win of the season.

The hero of the night was Virat Kohli, who played a masterclass innings of 81 runs off just 44 balls. He was perfectly supported by Devdutt Padikkal, who smashed a quick-fire 55. Together, they built a massive 115-run partnership that silenced the Gujarat bowlers and kept the run rate under control. Despite a mid-game wobble where RCB lost a few quick wickets to Rashid Khan, Krunal Pandya stepped up as the finisher, scoring an unbeaten 23 to seal the win.

Earlier in the evening, Gujarat Titans put up a formidable total of 205, powered by a brilliant century from opener Sai Sudharsan. Sudharsan's 100 came off 58 balls, featuring 11 fours and five huge sixes. While the Titans looked set for an easy win at the halfway mark, RCB's bowlers, led by Josh Hazlewood, managed to slow the scoring in the final overs. With 10 points now in their bag, RCB is looking like a serious title contender. For the fans in Bengaluru, it was a night of classic cricket, proving that no target is too high when Kohli is in form.

RCB makes history with record run chase

BENGALURU

Royal Challengers Bengaluru continued their reputation as chase specialists with a thrilling win over Gujarat Titans at M. Chinnaswamy Stadium. Chasing a daunting 206, RCB delivered a composed and fearless batting performance to secure victory with more than an over remaining.

The standout performer was Virat Kohli, who anchored the innings with a superb 81. He was well-supported by Devdutt Padikkal, whose quick half-century kept the momentum alive. Despite late wickets adding tension, Krunal Pandya held his nerve to guide the team home.

With this win, RCB reached the milestone of 50 victories at a single venue, joining elite teams like Mumbai and Chennai. It also marked their fifth successful chase above 200, underlining their batting strength.

SHUBMAN GILL LAMENTS COSTLY BATTING SLUMP LATE

BENGALURU

Gujarat Titans captain Shubman Gill expressed disappointment following his team's five-wicket defeat to Royal Challengers Bengaluru. Despite a massive century from Sai Sudharsan, the Titans failed to defend their total, leaving Gill to reflect on a critical loss of momentum during the final stages of their innings.

Speaking after the high-scoring thriller, Gill pointed to a strange boundary drought between the 16th and 19th overs as the turning point. At one stage, the Titans looked on track to score over 230 runs, but RCB's bowlers, led by Josh Hazlewood and Bhuvneshwar Kumar, tightened the screws. The Titans went 18 balls without a single boundary during the death overs, finishing at 205, a score Gill admitted was well below what they had hoped for.

The captain also highlighted a massive "what-if" moment early in the second innings. Legendary batter Virat Kohli was dropped on zero before going on to smash a match-winning 81. Gill admitted that while dropped catches are part of the game, failing to take wickets in the middle overs allowed Kohli and Devdutt Padikkal to take the game away with a 115-run partnership. "We had our moments, but we weren't consistent," Gill remarked, praising RCB for their clinical middle-order batting. With this loss, the Titans face a tougher climb in the IPL 2026 standings, while RCB celebrates moving into second place. For Gill, the lesson is clear, in high-stakes T20 cricket, every quiet over and dropped chance carries a heavy price.

Mitchell Starc returns to bolster DC

NEW DELHI

The Delhi Capitals received a massive shot of adrenaline as Australian pace spearhead Mitchell Starc officially joined the team camp. After a frustrating period on the sidelines due to injury, the legendary left-armer's arrival was confirmed by the franchise via social media. His return comes at a critical juncture for Delhi, who are currently fighting to climb from sixth place in the league standings.

Starc has been out of action since late January following an grueling season. The 36-year-old was the standout performer in the Ashes, where he was named Player of the Series for his incredible 31-wicket haul. However, the heavy workload took its toll, resulting in painful shoulder and elbow issues. A fall while attempting a catch during the Big Bash League further delayed his recovery, forcing him to miss the opening stages of this IPL campaign.

While fans are eager to see him back in action, the Capitals are being cautious with their star asset. Starc is expected to sit out today's high-stakes clash against the unbeaten Punjab Kings at the Arun Jaitley Stadium. Instead, the medical team is targeting a potential return for the match against the Rajasthan Royals on May 1.

Having a bowler of Starc's caliber back in the locker room provides a significant psychological boost for the squad. As the race for the playoffs intensifies, his ability to swing the ball and deliver lethal yorkers could be the missing piece Delhi needs to turn their season around.

Arshdeep Singh wins hearts of young fans

CHANDIGARH

In a heartwarming break from the intense pressure of the IPL season, Punjab Kings star bowler Arshdeep Singh spent his time bringing smiles to local children. The Indian international seamer met with a group of young fans from a local NGO as part of the team's new social media initiative, "The Real Kings." The meeting gave the children a rare chance to sit down with their hero and ask anything they wanted.

Arshdeep, known for his lethal yorkers on the pitch and his cheerful personality off it, handled the kids' unfiltered questions with humor and honesty. From light-hearted jokes to sincere advice about following dreams, the left-arm pacer proved why he is considered one of the most relatable figures in Indian cricket. The session was supported by the NamMyoho Daan and Phool Versha Foundations, which use sports to help build confidence in children from underprivileged backgrounds.

For the young fans, it was a day they will never forget. For Arshdeep, it was a moment to connect with the community before heading back to the grind of professional cricket. The franchise plans to feature more players in similar sessions throughout the season to strengthen the bond between the team and its supporters.

While his off-field interaction was gentle, Arshdeep will need to find his competitive edge quickly. The team is looking to maintain their impressive unbeaten away record as the race for the playoffs heats up.

Nitish Rana shines as Delhi Capitals make history

NEW DELHI

Nitish Rana had a night to remember, crossing the prestigious 3,000-run mark in the Indian Premier League. Playing for the Delhi Capitals, Rana delivered a stunning performance against the Punjab Kings, scoring a career-best 91 runs. His explosive innings came off just 44 balls, featuring eleven crisp boundaries and four towering sixes that left the crowd in awe.

Rana entered the game needing only 70 runs to reach the milestone. By the time he was finished, he had pushed his career total to 3,021 runs. However, his personal achievement was only half the story. Rana teamed up with captain KL Rahul for a massive 220-run partnership. This incredible stand is now the second-highest in IPL history, falling just short of the legendary 229-run record set by Virat Kohli and AB de Villiers back in 2016.

The pair's dominance helped Delhi Capitals post a staggering 264/2, the highest team total of the 2026 season so far. While Rahul anchored the innings with a brilliant 152, Rana provided the fire, at one point smashing 28 runs in a single over.

Punjab Kings struggled to find answers as their bowlers were dismantled across the field. Despite a late dismissal, Rana walked off to a standing ovation, having secured his place among the league's elite run-scorers. It was a masterclass in aggressive batting that proved exactly why he remains one of the most dangerous players in the shortest format of the game.

Mumbai cricket league announces star retention list

MUMBAI

The Mumbai Cricket Association has officially unveiled the player retention list for the 2026 T20 Mumbai League, featuring some of the biggest names in Indian cricket. Leading the pack are international stars Suryakumar Yadav, Shreyas Iyer, and Shivam Dube, ensuring the upcoming fourth season will be a high-voltage affair.

Each of the eight franchises has retained a core of three players, balancing world-class experience with promising local talent. The Triumph Knights have held onto Suryakumar Yadav as their "Icon Player" following his success leading India to a world title. Meanwhile, other teams have secured heavy hitters like Shardul Thakur, Sarfaraz Khan, and Tushar Deshpande. Young stars Yashasvi Jaiswal and Ajinkya Rahane have also been assigned as Icon Players for their respective franchises.

MCA President Ajinkya Naik stated that these retentions prove the league's growing credibility. He noted that allowing young athletes to share a dressing room with global icons is vital for the development of Mumbai's domestic cricket. The league has historically been a successful scouting ground for the IPL and the national team.

With the core squads now locked in, the excitement moves to the upcoming player auction. Franchises will look to fill their remaining spots to challenge the defending champions, Mumbai South Central Maratha Royals. As the city gears up for another summer of cricket, fans are eager to see if this mix of seasoned veterans and fresh faces can raise the standard of the local game to new heights.

FC GOA BEATS NORTHEAST UNITED TO REACH SECOND

FC Goa climbed to second in the ISL standings following a clinical 2-0 victory against struggling NorthEast United FC

GUWAHATI

FC Goa continued their impressive climb up the Indian Super League table with a clinical 2-0 win over NorthEast United FC. The victory, fueled by goals in each half, moved the "Gaurs" into second place with 19 points, while NorthEast United remains stuck near the bottom in 12th.

The match began with energy from both sides, but FC Goa struck first in the 20th minute. Young talent Muhammed Nemil sent a clever, high pass to winger Dejan Drazic. Drazic showed great strength to hold off a defender before firing a sharp shot into the bottom corner. Although Drazic had to leave the game shortly after due to an injury, his goal set the tone for the visitors.

Throughout the contest, Goa's defense was the star of the show. Captain Sandesh Jhingan delivered a masterclass in the backline, making several key interceptions that frustrated the NorthEast attackers. For his commanding performance, Jhingan was named Player of the Match. While the "Highlanders" tried to find an equalizer through players like Jithin MS and Parthib Gogoi, they simply could not break through Goa's disciplined wall.

The result was finally put beyond doubt in stoppage time. Substitute Mohammed Yasir received a cross on the right side, took a calm touch, and curled a beautiful left-footed strike off the post and into the net. It was a professional performance from FC Goa, who now look like genuine title contenders as the season progresses toward its final stages.

Autism center champions inclusion with sports event

NEW DELHI

India Autism Center's "Sports for All" initiative celebrated neurodivergent athletes and record-breaking young swimmers, advocating for inclusive infrastructure to empower children with autism through sports.

To celebrate World Autism Awareness Month, the India Autism Center (IAC) hosted its "Sports for All" initiative. The event focused on creating a fair sporting world for everyone, bringing together athletes, policymakers, and experts to discuss how to make sports more accessible for people with neurodevelopmental conditions.

A major highlight was the celebration of four young swimmers like Meka Sri Ashvath, Gunturu Lav, Gunturu Kush, and Thanvesh Navin. These incredible athletes, aged between 9 and 11, recently completed a massive 60-kilometer relay swim across the Palk Strait. They traveled from India to Sri Lanka and back in just 18 hours. Their achievement serves as a powerful example of what children with autism can accomplish when given the right training and support.

The program featured deep discussions on how to change the current sports system. Experts emphasized that inclusion shouldn't just be a one-time effort but should be built into the very design of India's stadiums and training programs. Leaders from Special Olympics Bharat and the Nipman Foundation noted that sports are vital for building confidence and a sense of belonging.

The IAC also shared its long-term vision, called "Samaavesh," which aims to create India's largest residential community for lifelong care. By partnering with various organizations, the Center hopes to remove the barriers that stop talented athletes from participating in mainstream sports. The message of the day was clear, with the right encouragement, every individual has the potential to redefine what is possible.

Ugandan stars chase double victory in Bengaluru

BENGALURU

The streets of Bengaluru were sizzling as the 18th TCS World 10K kicked off. All eyes are on Ugandan stars Sarah Chelangat and Harbert Kibet, who are aiming for a historic "Ugandan double" victory. Sarah, the defending champion, enters the race with newfound confidence. Despite winning last year with a back injury, she declared herself fully fit and ready to shatter her own record to retain the crown.

Her teammate, Harbert Kibet, brings a remarkable backstory to the starting line. Growing up, Kibet developed world-class endurance by running 20 kilometers daily to school with a heavy backpack. This year, he clocked a blistering 26:39 in Spain, a time nearly a minute faster than the current Bengaluru course record. Kibet is the heavy favorite for the men's title, though he faces stiff competition from Burundi's Rodrigue Kwizera and Ethiopia's Gemechu Dida.

The women's race is equally competitive. Sarah outran Kenyan Brenda Jepchirchir, who recently posted a career-best 29:25 in Valencia, and Ethiopia's Fantaye Belayneh. While some athletes expressed concerns over the local heat, most remain optimistic that the early morning start will provide the perfect conditions for record-breaking performances.

Beyond the prize money, these elite runners are using Bengaluru as a springboard for the upcoming Commonwealth Games and the LA Olympics. With a field this deep in talent, fans can expect a thrilling finish at the finish line of this World Athletics Gold Label race.

Injury scare for Mbappe during Madrid draw

SEVILLE

Real Madrid faced a double blow as they lost two vital points and their star striker to injury. During a tense 1-1 draw against Real Betis, Kylian Mbappe was forced off the pitch after feeling sudden pain. The French superstar requested a substitution in the 81st minute, heading straight to the locker room for medical attention.

The timing could not be worse for the Spanish giants. Early reports suggest Mbappe has strained his left hamstring. This injury puts a massive cloud over Madrid's upcoming schedule, especially with the highly anticipated El Clasico against Barcelona just around the corner. Coach Alvaro Arbeloa admitted after the game that the team is unsure how long their top scorer will be sidelined, noting they must wait for more tests.

The match itself was a rollercoaster of emotions for fans. Vinicius Junior put Madrid ahead early, scoring a beautiful goal in the 17th minute. It looked like a routine victory until the very last moment. In the 94th minute, Hector Bellerin stunned the visitors with a dramatic equalizer, leaving Madrid eight points behind league leaders Barcelona.

Losing Mbappe is a heartbreaking prospect for both club and country. He has been in sensational form, netting 24 goals this season. With the FIFA World Cup starting in June, France supporters are also holding their breath. For now, Madrid must find a way to keep their title hopes alive without their main man as they prepare for next week's clash.

New league gives small town cricketers hope

NEW DELHI

The newly launched Beyond Reach Premier League (BRPL) is stepping up to change the game for aspiring cricketers in rural India. Co-founder and CEO Sushil Sharma announced that the league's primary goal is to provide a professional platform for talent hidden in small towns. This initiative aims to bridge the gap between raw passion and structured career opportunities, ensuring that geography never limits a player's potential.

The inspiration for BRPL stems from Sharma's own childhood. Growing up playing tennis-ball cricket on crowded streets, he felt the same hunger and drive as millions of young Indians. However, he noticed a critical lack of direction and visibility for players outside major cities. "Dreams need direction," Sharma noted, explaining that the league was born from a personal promise to create the platform he never had.

BRPL focuses on the untapped potential of tennis-ball cricket, a format loved at the grassroots level but rarely treated professionally. By offering world-class training, digital visibility, and expert coaching, the league hopes to empower the next generation of champions. It isn't just about the scorecards, the league aims to build confidence, discipline, and a sense of identity among its participants.

The league is open to aspiring and semi-professional players aged 18 to 40.

Sawan Barwal smashes record and eyes Olympics

NEW DELHI

India's marathon scene has a new hero in Sawan Barwal. The 28-year-old runner from Himachal Pradesh recently made history at the Rotterdam Marathon by clocking a time of 2:11:58. This remarkable feat officially ended a 48-year wait, breaking the national record held by Shivnath Singh since 1978. Now, Barwal has his sights set on representing India at the Los Angeles 2028 Olympics.

The journey to the record was anything but easy. Barwal, who transitioned from shorter distances like the 1,500m, admitted the final stretch in Rotterdam was a grueling mental and physical battle. Battling cold winds and dizziness, he pushed through the pain to cross the finish line. He confessed that he wasn't even thinking about the record during the race; his primary goal was simply to finish the exhausting 42-kilometer course.

Barwal credits his success to a gradual shift toward endurance training and better modern facilities. He noted that while Singh's 1978 record was far ahead of its time, today's athletes benefit from scientific coaching and international exposure. This combination allowed him to turn his patience and rhythm into a historic performance for Indian athletics.

Looking ahead, Barwal is focused on consistency. His roadmap includes competing in the Asian Games and various international races to sharpen his skills. By breaking a nearly five-decade-old barrier, he hopes to inspire a new generation of Indian runners to believe that global success is within their reach. For Barwal, this record is just the beginning.

One of the most remarkable aspects of his career was sharing the Olympic field with his brother, Balbir Singh Grewal—a rare and historic moment for Indian hockey. Beyond his playing days, Grewal's continued involvement at the grassroots level, especially in Mumbai, showed a deep commitment to nurturing future talent.

Tributes from figures like Dilip Tirkey underline how much he meant to the sport—not just as a player, but as a mentor and administrator. His legacy isn't limited to medals; it lives on in the players he guided and the systems he helped strengthen.

Bengaluru workshop to boost race measurement accuracy

BENGALURU

Bengaluru recently hosted a transformative five-day workshop aimed at elevating the technical standards of road racing across India. Organized by the Association of International Marathons and Distance Races (AIMS) and World Athletics, the event focused on the precise science of course measurement. Fourteen specialized participants from across the nation gathered to master globally recognized protocols, ensuring that Indian race distances are accurate, credible, and compliant with international benchmarks.

The significance of this training cannot be overstated for India's rapidly expanding running culture. Currently, the country only has three certified course measurers. This shortage makes it difficult for new world records set on Indian soil to be officially ratified. By training a new cohort of experts, the workshop ensures that athlete performances and qualifications for global competitions are upheld by the highest authorities in the sport.

Leading the sessions was legendary marathoner Hugh Jones, a former London Marathon winner and the secretary of AIMS. Jones emphasized that accurate measurement is the foundation of the sport's integrity. Participants engaged in hands-on exercises, including bicycle calibration and the use of "Jones Counters" to map out exact distances.

With nearly 1,100 timed races now held annually in India, building this technical expertise is essential. Local organizers believe this initiative will turn India into a top destination for international runners who seek certified and trustworthy courses. Supported by various athletic associations and tourism boards, the workshop marks a major leap toward aligning Indian distance running with the world's best practices.

Dhruva Sarja movie trailer deleted from YouTube

BENGALURU

The makers of the highly anticipated film KD: The Devil have stunned fans by pulling the movie's trailer from YouTube just after its big release. KVN Productions issued a formal apology, explaining that the video was taken down because it accidentally included "uncertified content." This mistake has sparked a wave of frustration online, as this is not the first time the film has faced legal or censorship hurdles.

Only a few weeks ago, a song from the movie featuring Nora Fatehi and Sanjay Dutt was removed following a massive public outcry. Critics and the National Commission for Women labeled the lyrics "vulgar" and "suggestive." While Nora Fatehi claimed she did not understand the meaning of the words while filming, the production team was forced to re-record the track with cleaner lyrics.

The internet has not been kind to the production house, which is also behind other troubled projects like Toxic and Jana Nayagan. Angry fans on social media have called the situation a "joke," questioning how a major studio could repeatedly fail to follow basic certification rules. Some worry that these constant delays and controversies might hurt the film's success at the box office.

Despite the backlash, the producers have promised to upload a revised, "clean" version of the trailer very soon.

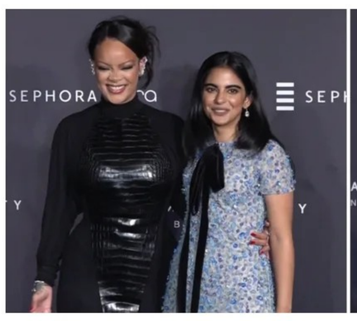
Rihanna joins Isha Ambani for Mumbai Gala



MUMBAI

The city of dreams sparkled even brighter last night as global music sensation Rihanna arrived for a massive fashion celebration. The star was in town to launch her famous Fenty Beauty line, which is now officially hitting shelves in India. The glamorous party, held at the Phoenix Palladium, brought together the biggest names from both the business world and the silver screen. One of the most talked-about moments of the evening was when Rihanna posed for photos with Isha Ambani. Rihanna looked stunning in a sleek, glossy black gown, while Isha chose a delicate pastel blue dress covered in shimmering floral designs. The two appeared to be in great spirits, smiling for the cameras as they celebrated the brand's new partnership.

The red carpet was packed with style, but actor Janhvi Kapoor managed to steal the spotlight. She wore a bold black-and-white outfit that had everyone talking. Other famous guests, including designer Manish Malhotra and singer Kanika Kapoor, also joined the festivities, making it one of the most stylish nights Mumbai has seen this year. Rihanna is no stranger to India, having visited previously for the famous Ambani wedding celebrations. Her beauty brand has changed the industry by making makeup that works for every skin tone, and its arrival in local stores is a huge win for Indian fans. As the party stretched into the night, it was clear that the bond between global pop culture and Indian elegance is stronger than ever.

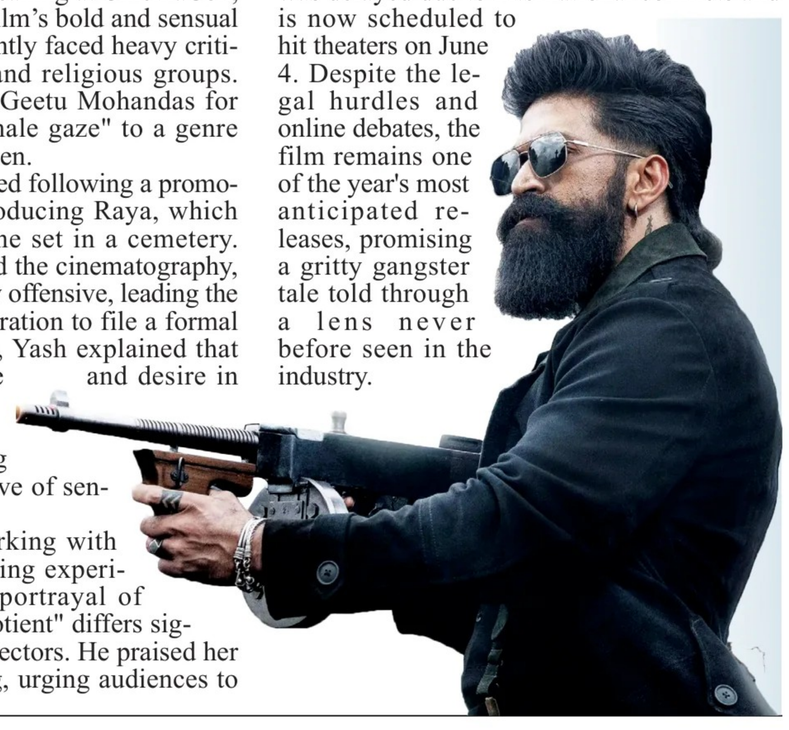
ROCKING STAR YASH defends bold scenes in action movie

LAS VEGAS

Kannada superstar Yash has finally broken his silence regarding the heated controversy surrounding his upcoming film, Toxic: A Fairy Tale for Grown-Ups. Speaking at CinemaCon, the actor defended the film's bold and sensual content, which has recently faced heavy criticism from the public and religious groups. Yash credited director Geetu Mohandas for bringing a unique "female gaze" to a genre usually dominated by men.

The backlash intensified following a promotional video titled Introducing Raya, which featured a graphic scene set in a cemetery. While some fans praised the cinematography, others found the imagery offensive, leading the National Christian Federation to file a formal complaint. In response, Yash explained that Geetu presents romance and desire in a way that is "refreshing and new" for Indian action cinema, focusing on a woman's perspective of sensuality.

Yash shared that working with Geetu has been a learning experience, noting that her portrayal of emotion and "desire quotient" differs significantly from male directors. He praised her clear vision and writing, urging audiences to see the artistry behind the provocativeness. Geetu herself recently posted a cryptic message online, suggesting the scenes explore deeper themes like female pleasure and consent. Originally set for a March release, Toxic was delayed due to international conflicts and is now scheduled to hit theaters on June 4. Despite the legal hurdles and online debates, the film remains one of the year's most anticipated releases, promising a gritty gangster tale told through a lens never before seen in the industry.



STELLAR CAST FAILS TO CREATE BIG HYPE

KOCHI

In a surprising turn for the South Indian film industry, the massive spy thriller Patriot is struggling to grab the public's attention despite its legendary cast.

The film marks a historic reunion between Malayalam superstars Mohanlal and Mammootty, who are sharing the screen after nearly two decades. Even with additional star power from Fahadh Faasil and Nayanthara, trade experts are shocked by the unusually low levels of excitement surrounding the project.

Built on a staggering budget of 140 crore, Patriot is one of the most expensive films ever made in the region.

Directed by the acclaimed Mahesh Narayanan, the movie was originally set for an April release but has now been pushed to May 1. While a big-budget film with such famous names usually creates a frenzy, the current buzz remains strangely quiet. Some fans have blamed a lack of promotion, while others feel the recent trailers revealed too much of the plot.

The film follows a high-stakes mission involving national security and covert operations, shot across multiple international locations like the UK and Azerbaijan.

Despite the slow start, industry insiders are not giving up hope.
